Who We Are

We make the complex, simple

We named our agency STAY POSITIVE because to us, spreading positivity is a necessary act for brands and companies to survive. Brands thrive on their ability to be understood. People do too. And there is no better way than to be understood in a positive manner.

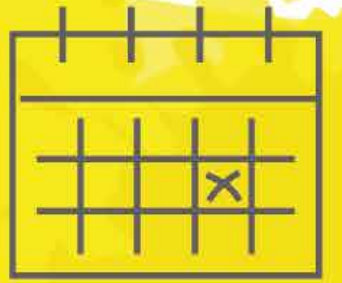

This core philosophy stands at the center of everything we make. The brands we build and the experiences we create live at the intersection of clarity and surprise and joy; and are positioned to matter in culture through shared values and ideals. Positivity done right is what connects a brand with its audience, creates a winning strategy, and drives our making, day in, day out.
